

ANDRES COLL

Andrés Coll, born in Ibiza, is a multifaceted vibraphonist who amalgamates a keen and broad musical sense, an unquestionable virtuosity as a performer and a stoic commitment to the art. From his childhood, as a devoted member of a local folk group, he became aware of the deep and wide roots of the music of his native land. Coll has quietly matured as a performer, composer and researcher, devoting himself to primitive music, Bach, Bartók, contemporary music, modern jazz and free improvisation. His open and consistent mentality, a demanding sense of quality and his uncomplicated attitude make him a frequent and welcome companion of the region's musical elite and, increasingly, of like-minded and like-minded leading artists from all over the world.

Andres Coll Cosmic Trio and Andres Coll Odyssey brings together a core of musicians who amalgamate the research of folk music from their own cultures with the avant-garde spirit and free improvisation.

BARCELONA

The fusion of folklore and avant-garde creates a vibrant music of great energy and dynamism, fresh, joyful and original, transcending barriers and formalisms, inspiring the unity of body and soul. The group investigates the archaeology of musical cultures, digging for the roots of a singular primordial music, the original language of humans.
